Are in Corning, New York

Two elaborately fitted up cars filled with instructive articles from the Golden State, arrived in Corning, N. Y., last week. These cars will remain in Corning for a few days. They have been traveling throughout the Eastern, Middle and Southern States for eighteen months. It speaks well for the North of Bay Counties Association, of California, under whose auspices the cars are kept swinging throughout the states east of the Mississippi, that the cars are kept spick and span and the display fresh and up to the minute. Large numbers visited the cars. Practically everything that the Golden State is noted for, from cucumbers nearly a yard long to the choice of wines, may be seen in the exhibit. A legend on a circular given out "by the man at the door," as one leaves the exhibit car, says: "These two cars have been loaded with fair specimens of what our section of the Golden State produces, in hopes that they may prove interesting enough to make a home seeker of you among us, North of Bay County Association." This in a nutshell tells the way and wherefore of the unique exhibition.

A few paragraphs from the booklet given out at the cars illustrate the enthusiasm of those who welcome visitors and explain the various exhibits. It is a badge of honor from the Golden State.

The five Counties north of San Francisco Bay, Marin, Napa, Sonoma, Lake and Mendocino, comprehended a kingdom. Ten thousand miles are included in this territory, which is larger than many eastern States. Three of these Counties have a coast line of about two hundred miles, and all are refreshed and warmed by the ocean breeze which is affected by the warm Japan current. These counties are a unit in interests and developments and are now proclaiming to the world their tremendous productivity and resourcefulness. In former years the residents of this section were content to grow rich and live easy lives, and they allowed other and less favored regions of the West to claim the attention of the outside world. Of late, however, it has come to be realized that it is a positive crime to allow such a section to be largely undeveloped, when its proper settlement and cultivation will contribute so much to the total of the wealth of the State and the happiness and prosperity of a larger number of people.

The spirit of development has taken a strong hold on the imagination and thoughts of the enterprising citizens of the beautiful little cities and towns and have lead them to associate themselves together in promotion organizations, and to make a largely selfish proclamation of the possibilities of their district. And it is with this spirit The Garden Spot of the world is offered for exploitation, and investigation to all who will come.

The North of Bay Counties, even though only partly developed, produce a large percentage of the resources of the State. Their wonderful possibilities are indicated when it is stated that although this is a comparatively unsettled section, with not more than one hundred and fifty thousand inhabitants, yet nearly half of the poultry products, nearly half of the dairy products, more than half of the wines and hops, and more than half of the berry crop of the State are supplied from this district. Everything that can be grown in the State, from oranges to walnuts, may be produced with great profit north of San Francisco Bay. Considering the fact that vast areas of our district are yet untouched, covered with underbrush or virgin forest, it can be easily seen that there is a domain which will soon be awakened, to rich fruitfulness by a great and fortunate multitude.

A Greenfield will deliver fresh fish in Glen Ellen every Thursday. Phone orders to him or watch for the wagon. 19-1f.

Grand Parade

July Fourth.

A Good Old Fashion

Celebration Decided

Upon.

The committee appointed by Mayor Cummings last Monday evening, met in chairman Bates' clothing store on Tuesday evening and laid the foundation for a grand parade to be given at 10 a. m. on July 4th, and the parade will be a most interesting amusement.

The parade is to be one of the features of the day and the idea is to give prizes for the most original ideas that are gotten up in a comical way. Prominent business men will throw aside their dignity and appear in grotesque costume, and the ladies will be given ample opportunity to show their genius.

Animals from the tropics will march side by side with the polar bear of the arctic, safely guarded by an experienced keeper, and Filipinos will vie with Fiji Islanders for prominent positions.

The Devil and his imps dispense mischief throughout the line of march and the Indians will lift many a scalp enroute.

Bands will play and the ladies of the Woman's Club will serve their wares and sweetmeats in the plaza. In fact the whole idea is to get back to one of those good, old time Fourth's, where the greased pig spoils clothes, and the lads drink red lemonade.

Already the citizens are responding to the call for floats and fun, and long before the hour arrives the parade will be a long one with pretty floats, calathumpians, squeals, orders, etc.

There will be three separate prizes: First prize for most original feature from the city.

First prize for most original feature from the country and First prize for most original feature from the resorts.

Every feature should be in burlesque, but those who would rather not, can feature a fine float.

Let all enter a feature of some kind and help make the parade the longest and best that has ever been given in Sonoma.

Those who intend entering a feature from outlying districts are requested to leave word of their intentions with H. F. Bates or G. H. Hotz.

Remember this is for the benefit of the Carnegie Library and each add their mite.

Attempt to Swindle Farmers

Farmers in the section of Santa Rosa have been warned that two sleek individuals are trying to bamboozle them. The men have been visiting ranches at different times, one collecting data as to crop acreage, and being followed by the other in a supposed endeavor to verify everything and obtain signatures to a document.

Upon a farmer's examining one of the papers it was discovered to include a promissory note for one hundred dollars.

The men represented that they were sent out by the Panama-Pacific Exposition Company. They are believed to have duped a number of victims.

Levy Exposition Tax

At the meeting of the Board of Supervisors on Thursday, following the extended discussion of the proposed exhibit for Sonoma county at the Panama-Pacific exposition, it was determined that the board would levy an assessment for the full amount allowed under the law. This sum is six cents on the hundred dollars' valuation. When the time comes for the levying of the tax for the next fiscal year, this sum will be added to the amount required for other county purposes. Supervisor William King made the motion that this course be pursued when the proper time comes, and Supervisor Charles L. Patteson seconded the same. It was given unanimous approval by the members of the board.
